To Our Subscribers.

The season of the year for settling up accounts has arrived. There are several hundred of our subscribers who have not paid their subscription this year. This money, while small in amount to each subscriber, aggregates a considerable sum to us. We need it in our business and you will find it more convenient to pay while the sum is small than after it has been allowed to accumulate. Please do not wait for us to send a statement or a collector to you but call at the office and settle or mail the same to the paper. By doing this you will greatly oblige us and help us in our efforts to render you good service. We are trying to do something for you every week by giving you a good paper. Will you do this for us? Yours to serve,

The place cards were of Eslasgo linen with hand-painted forget-me-nots.

High-five was indulged in until five games had been played. Prizes were won and presented to the bride by the following: First, Miss Gertrude Reilly; "booby," Florence Deckert; consolation, Miss Gertrude Reilly. ## Economy Record.

One of the most interesting things about the recent economy run of the Saxon Motor Car Company was the high average mileage per gallon of gasoline on the part of all of the 105 contestants in various parts of the country. For every one of the 26,377 miles which these 105 dealer contestants drove during the contest, the average was twenty-one miles per gallon, and the oil fifty-two miles per quart. The remarkably good showing of all the cars on gasoline mileage is attributed by the Saxon people partly to the motor itself, which has already demonstrated its good qualities in many severe tests, and partly to the well-known efficiency of the Rayfield carburetor which Saxon Sixes are equipped. This is one of the few cars selling at a low price which is equipped with a Rayfield carburetor. The Saxon manufacturers have decided that it is best to meet the present stiff competition in the automobile field by maintaining excellence of motor performance, as the first claim of their unusual car.—San Antonio Express.

GREAT UNIVERSITY WAS HOUSTON PLAN

Noted Educator Believed Southwest Entitled to School of First Rank.

ADDRESSED MEN OF MONEY

And Washington University, Already
of Considerable Scope, Proceeded to Become Institution of World Importance.

CHANCELLOR DAVID F. HOUSTON.

The world-famous Washington University medical group, at St. Louis, is shown by reference to an address delivered between six and seven years ago by Chancellor David Franklin Houston, now on leave of absence to serve as Secretary of Agriculture in President Wilson's Cabinet, to be a realization, in part, of a vast plan outlined in that address, which, although delivered before the Commercial Club of St. Louis, was really in the nature of an inaugural.

"A University for the Southwest" was the subject of the address, the date of the delivery of which was October 31, 1908, and the hearers of which included most of the city's ultra-wealthy men, from among whom obviously must come the bulk of the money for whatever extraordinary extensions Washington University might make.

Dr. Houston pointed out courageously how those men of millions seated about him could help to produce for this section of the country a "real university"—something which many of them supposed St. Louis already to possess, but which Dr. Houston insisted no Southwestern city, St. Louis included, had yet acquired. Said he:

No great university can be built up and sustained unless the university can secure and keep a fair number of the strongest, greatest, most creative and inspiring of the world's teachers and investigators.

Much Money Needed.

To do this requires much money, high salaries, not because any great man in this, any more than in any other sphere, works for money, but simply because money means relief from worry and command over necessary implements; in short, means efficiency.

Men of real creative genius are rare and difficult to get, and really cannot be paid, but when you get them—when you secure a Huxley, a Pasteur, a Tyndall and a Koch—you have a university; the problem is solved.

But much more is required. There is need of great laboratories and libraries and endowments for operating expenses. An eminent German scientist, when asked for his idea of a university, replied that it was a laboratory and a bank account, and another said that if he were going to build a university and had large funds he would first equip a laboratory, and then if his money held out he might erect a building, and then if he had a surplus he might employ some professors, if he were sure of their capacity.

St. Louis the Logical Location.

Regarding the Pritchett report to the Carnegie Foundation, Dr. Houston said:

I would not agree with Dr. Pritchett as to the necessity for the elimination of the undergraduate college. Such colleges will continue for a long time to come to be a characteristic feature of American universities, distinguishing them especially from the German. It is requisite only that the colleges be so organized as to prevent them ultimately from crowding out the professional and graduate schools and preventing the development of a true university spirit.

But I do agree unreservedly with Dr. Pritchett that it would be of immense value to the educational system of the country if a few more institutions doing effectively strong work of real university grade were developed, and I would, with equal confidence, express the opinion that it would be of more value to the educational interests of the country if one were developed here on existing foundations than anywhere else in the nation, and that it is not probable that any institution elsewhere in the Southwest will satisfy the need.

A Versatile Man.

"I couldn't get along without my doctor."

"No?"

"When I'm sick he tells me a funny story and I get well."

"Does he make out his bill 'to professional service' or 'entertainment'?"

Creating That Impression.

"I see it again stated that eating onions regularly will make a person live a long time. Do you suppose there is any truth in that theory?"

"I can't say, but eating onions regularly will probably make a person's life seem long to other people with whom he comes in contact."

A Bit of Advice.

First—Don't Delay. Second—Don't Experiment.

If you suffer from backache; headaches or dizzy spells; if you rest poorly and are languid in the morning; if the kidney secretions are irregular and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. In such cases the kidneys often need help.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for kidney trouble. They are recommended by thousands. Can Hondo residents desire more convincing proof of their effectiveness than the statement of a Hondo citizen who has used them and willingly testifies to their worth?

Mrs. C. H. Sayers, Hondo, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have done me a lot of good and I have no hesitation in recommending them to others who suffer as I did. They gave me great relief and I can safely say that they are the best kidney medicine that I have ever used."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Sayers had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

As a general thing, a gossip is a person who is so eager to be interesting he is willing to exaggerate.

What is Best for Indigestion?

Mr. A. Robinson of Drumquinn, Ontario, has been troubled for years with indigestion, and recommends Chamberlain's Tablets as "the best medicine I ever used." If troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial. They are certain to prove beneficial. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. For sale by All Dealers.

One reason this country keeps the peace is that no one else seems to want it.—Columbia State.

Granulated Sore Eyes Cured.

"For twenty years I suffered from a bad case of granulated sore eyes, says Martin Boyd of Henrietta, Ky. In February, 1903, a gentleman asked me to try Chamberlain's Salve. I bought one box and used about two-thirds of it and my eyes have not given me any trouble since." This salve is for sale by All Dealers.

When a big man is mean he's the limit, because there's so much of him to be mean.

If your child is pale and sickly, picks at the nose, starts in the sleep and grinds the teeth while sleeping, it is a sure sign of worms. Even rubbing up against the world doesn't seem to make some men any brighter.

ADVANTAGES OF AN URBAN UNIVERSITY

Dr. Hall of Washington University Meets Old Questions With Time-Tested Answers.

CITES DR. HOUSTON'S WORDS

Shows Cabinet Member to Be Among Educators Who Regard City as Teacher of Knowledge Unobtainable From Books Alone.

Dr. Frederic A. Hall, Acting Chancellor of Washington University.

The old question as to whether it is an advantage or a disadvantage to a university to be placed in a city is up again.

Dr. Frederic A. Hall, acting chancellor of Washington University, that St. Louis seat of learning the remarkable expansion of which, particularly in its Medical Department, is matter of world interest, expressed, when seen, the opinion that ground for a controversy on the subject no longer exists.

"That question was dealt with decisively more than six years ago," said Dr. Hall, referring his interviewer to an address delivered by the university's chancellor, Dr. David F. Houston, who is on leave of absence to serve as Secretary of Agriculture in President Wilson's Cabinet, and to a paper, treating the subject in detail, prepared by a professor of the university several months afterward.

"The points then raised in favor of the urban university seem to me to gain strength with age," said Dr. Hall, who, calling the librarian, procured copies of the papers of which he had spoken and presented them to his visitor.

Dr. Houston's Tense Argument.

The Houston address, while dealing primarily with another, although related, subject, includes a terse argument in favor of the urban university.

"The advantages of a city location for a university are obvious," declares Dr. Houston in this address. "They lie not more in the large collections of available books and documents and in the interplay and friction of the minds of the strongest men of the nation, and in the frequent presence of the great men of the world, than in the existence of great institutions like courts, manufacturing establishments, architectural monuments and undertakings, and engineering enterprises, which make it possible for the student, and the professor as well, to keep abreast of the times, and to see the latest demonstrations of applied science."

The paper pointing out in detail the advantages of the city for a university is in part as follows:

To begin with, the city itself is a great teacher—a teacher of knowledge which no formal class instruction affords, but which every student ought to receive.

For all divisions of social science, (Economics, Charities and Corrections, Education, Government) and the physical sciences (Physics, Chemistry, Engineering), the city best contributes the material needed by the student. Some of these studies are scarcely possible outside of a city. Poverty, crime, and vice, and the means of dealing with them, can not be studied from books alone; the student must observe the facts at first hand, and these he can find only in a great town—there only can he find in sufficient numbers, living in their own districts, the classes of people to be studied and also the institutions for relieving them.

The life of the city, with its sharp contrasts of rich and poor, has been thought the chief danger of our free government. If the study of these subjects is to be of practical use, that study must take place in the midst of these puzzling and troublesome facts.

In many subjects of study, the libraries of the city supplement the library of a university. Large libraries nearly always specialize more or less, one is well supplied with certain books which others lack. The presence in a city of a number of large libraries is, therefore, a considerable advantage to the university.

Dependency Due to Indigestion.

"About three months ago when I was suffering from indigestion which caused headache and dizzy spells and I began to feel tired and despondent, I made taking Chamberlain's Tablets," writes Mrs. Geo. Hon, Macedon, N. Y. "This medicine proved to be the very thing I needed, as one day's treatment relieved me greatly. I used two bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and they rid me of this trouble." Obtainable everywhere.

TEACHERS TO HOLD INSTITUTE HERE

Medina County Teachers' Institute Will Meet in Hondo September 6th-10th

The Medina County Teachers' Institute for white teachers will convene at Hondo, Texas, at 8:30 A. M. Monday, September 6, at the High School building and continue in session for five full days.

Every teacher in the county is requested to be present at the opening of the first day and continue to be on time for the entire week. Be prepared and prove yourself an interested teacher. Improve yourself and thereby benefit the people of Medina county who are realizing the great needs of our schools.

The Institute is held for the benefit of those in your charge, and for the advancement of the cause of education. Therefore do not shirk your duty, but put forth every effort toward making this Institute the best ever had in the county. Be not careless and disloyal to your profession, but give your pupils, patrons and county a "square deal."

The State Superintendent recommends Charter's "Teaching the Common Branches," to be used by the Institute. This book may be bought from the Southern School Book Department, Dallas, Texas.

This is a splendid text in the hands of every teacher and it should be purchased at once.

The State Department recommends that the Institute be divided into sections that it may do better work. I have followed its suggestions and have selected such subjects for the sectional meetings as came within the scope of all the schools of the respective sections.

The greatest good to the greatest number has been my purpose in making these selections.

The Supervisors have been appointed for each day, and are held responsible for the thorough and efficient work of all present. Bring pencil and note book and a copy of "Charter's" and be prepared for perfect recitations.

Teachers expect parents to buy books for their children so that efficient work may be done; for like reasons the State Superintendent and County Superintendent expect teachers to provide themselves with the adopted texts of the Institute so that good, honest work may be done.

Every teacher in the county, both in Common and Independent Districts, is required by law to have his certificate registered with the County Superintendent before a contract or election is valid. See that you have this done!

The County Board of Education, District Trustees, Mothers' and Parents' Clubs, and friends of the Institute are cordially invited to attend, submit questions and take part in all discussions.

A registration fee of fifty cents will be charged each teacher to help pay the expense of prominent educators of the State who were called to address the Institute. Should there remain a balance it will be applied to the Medina County Teachers' Library Fund.

The Clerk Guaranteed It.

"A customer came into my store the other day and said to one of my clerks, 'have you anything that will cure diarrhoea?' and my clerk went and got him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and said to him, 'if this does not cure you, I will not charge you a cent for it.' ## LITERATURE IN THE FARMER'S HOME

Speech Before the Texas Dry Farming Congress at Eagle
Pass, Texas, August
18, 1915

By FLETCHER DAVIS, FIELD AGENT
State Department of Agriculture

Mr. President, Delegates to the Dry Farming Congress, Ladies and Gentlemen:—

Happiness is the objective of all our actions.

We may think we are animated by other motives—that the call to fame or fortune is the Siren voice that leads us on—but, in the final analysis, it is how much pleasure, how much satisfaction, how much contentment—how much happiness, if you please, will this undertaking
bring us.

Therefore, the pursuit of happiness is the sum of our endeavors.

Man can not think of happiness aside from a competency—a liberal share in the world's goods.

Material things are necessary to provide those comforts essential to our bodily welfare and those mental accomplishments necessary for a well balanced mental development.

So we trace back to its source the motive that prompts our every endeavor on the farm as well as in other fields of human activity.

This prompts enquiring minds to seek means of increasing our capacity for acquiring more through our endeavors.

And naturally we look first to the matter of production.

It is well for us to think of this.

While our lands are constantly increasing in value notwithstanding thousands of acres of new lands are being placed in cultivation each year, the average production per acre of our farms is gradually declining.

It is important that we so improve our methods of farming as to not only produce larger yields for our own immediate use but improve our lands while doing it.

The test of a good farmer is to continue to take profitable crops
from his lands year after year while at the same time he is improving those lands.

The man who is not doing that is not only not a good farmer
but is robbing future generations of their birthright.

And he is failing to produce the maximum for his own efforts.

It is, therefore, well to study
to improve and increase production.

Next to production, distribution is a strong factor in the material welfare of the farmer.

It has been determined by statisticians that the American farmer is receiving only 27 per cent, on the average, of what the consumer pays for his products.

It follows, therefore, that there must be an extremely low cost of production and an extremely high cost for distribution or else the farmer is not receiving an equitable share in the proceeds of his own labors.

And it is well that the brightest minds of our country are grappling with the marketing problem—grappling with it to the end that consumption become not so expensive as to prevent it or production so nonremunerative as to stop it.

Either condition spells disaster to the body politic.

But these two phases of the farmer's problem are being widely discussed from every public rostrum and goods-box forum over the land.

And while their solution is essential to the prosperity, contentment and happiness of every farm home, we shall turn aside from their discussion here and consider some minor factors that enter into the happiness of the farmer and his family.

Not the least important of these is Literature in the Farmer's Home.

Rural education has awakened
the farmer's mind and unlocked to him the rich stores of a world's literature.

Improved rural schools and the broadening out of the scope of their work will give him a still greater appreciation for literature.

Just so, the rural telephone and the automobile, by bringing him into closer touch and more active intercourse with the rest of the world, has stimulated a greater inquiry into world affairs and creates a demand for information which only periodical literature can supply.

And just here the free rural delivery of mail steps in and facilitates the supplying of this demand by an easier distribution.

Literature is supplied in two forms—books and periodicals.

Of books there is an endless variety.

The farmer's library should be supplied with as many as possible.

But discrimination and judgment should be exercised in their selection to the end that the time devoted to their peru-

AS A SUPPORT for exhausted, nervous, overworked women,
nothing can do as much as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.
It regulates and assists all the
natural functions,
never conflicts with them, and it strengthens and builds up
the female system in a way of its own.
Nursing mothers
and women generally,
will find it exactly
fitted to their needs.
It lessens the pains and burdens,
and ensures healthy, vigorous offspring.
Mrs. LIZZIE EPPERSON, of 1220 Gould Avenue, Fort Worth, Texas, says: "I can recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to any woman suffering from female trouble or nervousness. I was very nervous and losing weight so fast I became alarmed over my condition. I could not do any housework. A friend told me about 'Favorite Prescription' and I tried it and began gaining in weight at once."

sal be well spent.

If one be not made wiser and better by the reading of a book
it were better never to read it.

Especially should books be chosen that will give the farmer's children a broader view and higher regard for the dignity and the importance of farming to the end that their tastes and inclinations be trained to and not from the farm.

In this connection, permit me to commend to you the publications of our State Department of Agriculture.

From time to time, this Department issues authoritative booklets upon farm and home topics that should be in every farmer's home.

They are couched in such simple language that any school boy can read and understand them.

They are free to you for the asking and the Department will gladly send you any it has if you will only write it at Austin and make the request.

"Get the habit" of asking for and reading the bulletins of the State Department of Agriculture.

Periodicals may be roughly grouped into three classes—weekly papers, daily papers and current magazines.

Much froth finds a place in the columns of some current magazines.

Such publications are not to be encouraged.

But many of them are filled with the best and most correct views of current affairs as well as the cream of the world's current literary production.

No farmer's home is complete without one or more such periodicals.

Daily papers are of as many varieties as there are popular tastes and prejudices.

Each caters to a particular clientele and serves them the news of the day in the style most pleasing to their particular taste.

The daily paper for the farm home—and none should be without it where it is possible to have it—should be selected with a view to the accuracy of its news service and the lofty ideals that govern its editorial policy.

Weekly papers must be divided into three classes—Current News, Class papers and Local papers.

Weekly papers of current general news are now almost extinct.

They are giving away rapidly before the daily and where still existing are nearly always made up from the contents of some daily for the purpose of reaching remote places where a daily
can not reach every day.

In that field, they still serve a useful purpose.

Class papers are as numerous as there are classes, for every creed, party, faction or society must have its own organ.

But the most common of the class journal is the Political,
Religious or Farm paper.

We are chiefly concerned here with the latter.

No farmer who wishes to keep abreast of the times and be informed of agricultural progress can afford to be without his farm journal.

The factors that should enter into its selection are its reliability and its adaptation to your own locality.

No farmer in Texas shows discriminating judgment who sends to Vermont or Wisconsin for a farm journal before trying one of his state papers.

By all means, let's have as many farm papers as we can use, but let us give preference to our own state's publications.

Many years spent upon the Literature in the Farmer's Home

farm, either as a farmer boy himself or as a teacher of other farm boys and girls, and many years spent as a publisher of such a periodical, has convinced me that of all the literature in the farm home that comes closest to the farmer which is found in his own local paper.

I know from first-hand observation:—

First, that the local paper is the first paper read in the farm home.

It is read first in preference to all other papers by both old and young and is the first periodical in which young people show an interest.

The reason for this is its intimate personal touch with the people it serves.

Second, that it is the closest read of any because it interests every member of the family.

Third, that it is the best understood because it deals with matters more closely related to the life of its readers than any other paper.

And Fourth, that, for the very reasons above set forth, it is the most influential of all periodicals.

There is, therefore, a large weight of responsibility resting upon the shoulders of the most obscure country editor.

He has an open sesame to the homes of his community and the hearts of their inmates through the very nature of his calling.

He exerts a silent but potent influence upon the minds and hearts, the likes and dislikes, of his readers, especially the young.

How important, then, that he exercise discriminating judgment in what he publishes.

How absolutely imperative that he be prompted by worthy motives and guided by lofty ideals in his editorial expressions!

The farmer should support the local paper.

He should cultivate the friendship and good will of the local editor to the end that he may be encouraged to give the best service that lies within him.

"Give to the world the best you have
And the best will come back to you"

never had a truer fulfillment than when applied to the local editor.

This doesn't mean, we wish to be understood, to give the editor your best pumpkin or your biggest squash and expect a year's subscription in exchange.

It means you should give him your moral support and counsel.

It means you should give him his hard earned money in cold cash and promptly when due.

No man ever invested so small an amount more profitably than when he spends the price of a subscription with his local editor.

Let us summarize, then, by advising that you give yourself and your children—

First, the local paper.

Second, a current-news paper, either weekly, semi-weekly or daily.

Third, a good farm paper adapted to your locality.

Fourth, a good magazine.

And Fifth, all the good books you can afford.

Let us remember, when thinking of distribution and the securing of better returns for our labors, that money is useful to us only in the necessities, the comforts, the pleasures of life it can bring us.

In other words, let us remember that the pursuit of happiness is the sum of our endeavors.

We hear much said about how to keep the boys and girls on the farm.

Its answer lies in making farm life profitable and happy.

Entertainment and pleasure for the farm boys and girls spells more happiness and more happiness means more contentment and more prosperity on the farm.

And Lady Montague says: "No entertainment is so cheap as reading, nor any pleasure so lasting."

So let us have more and better reading matter in our farm homes!

Finally, let us remember, when thinking of production, that the acme of production is reached on our farms when they produce well rounded and noble girls and boys.

Bacon said: "Reading makes a full man."

Let us so order the selection of their reading matter that our girls and boys may grow into the full mental stature of which their minds and hearts are capable.

Let us impress them with the important truth so happily stated in the language of the poet:—

"Were I so tall to reach the pole
Or grasp the ocean in my span,
I must be measured by my soul;
The mind's the stature of the man!"

The Pinckneys—"Fathers of the Republic"

PERHAPS South Carolina's best gift to this Free Republic was the splendid services of her two great sons—Charles Cotesworth Pinckney and Charles Pickens. It can truthfully be said of the Pinckneys that their love of honor was greater than their love of power, and deeper than their love of life. One played an important part in the "Louisiana Purchase"—the other, while an envoy to France, was told that the use of money would avert war, and to this replied: "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute." Both devoted their eminent abilities toward framing our National Law. The Constitution of the United States, as it stands to-day, was built upon the framework of a plan first proposed by Charles Pinckney. It was he who demanded that it contain freedom of religion, freedom of the press, habeas corpus and trial by jury. In political faith only did these two great men differ. Charles Pinckney was an ardent Democrat, and Charles C. Pinckney a loyal Federalist, and was twice a candidate for President. It is easy to imagine the horror that these two great lovers of Personal Liberty would have expressed if shown the proposed Prohibition Laws of to-day. It is needless to say that if alive they would VOTE NO to such tyrannous encroachments upon the NATURAL RIGHTS OF MAN. The Pinckneys both believed in the moderate use of light wines and barley brews. They also believed in legislation which encouraged the Brewing Industry, because they knew that honest Barley Beer makes for true temperance. For 48 years Anheuser-Busch have been brewers of honest Barley-Malt and Saazer Hop beers—the kind the Pinckneys knew to be good for mankind. To-day their great brand—BUDWEISER—because of its quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor, exceeds the sale of any other beer by millions of bottles; 7500 people are daily required to keep pace with the public demand for BUDWEISER.

Farmers' Union Warehouse Open for Business.

The Union Warehouse Co. of Hondo has employed me as manager for the season of 1915-16.

I opened the doors for the purpose of receiving cotton and cotton seed on August 16, and on account of having to finish my course in cotton grading I have employed my brother, Henry Crow, to look after the business, under bond, until I return from the cotton-grading school, when I will bring my certificate from the State, together with a Fidelity Bond of $7,500.00, which the State requires, to make the patrons secure on any business that they may do through the warehouse under my management.

On September 1st we will do business under the new State Warehouse Law, and this is the reason for the late opening.

Chalmers Six-40

First Quality Car at $1350

40-Horsepower, 7-Passenger Touring Car, Weight 3075 Lbs.

Valve-in-Head Motor with Overhead Camshaft

The battle of the giants is on. It is a battle royal for the supremacy of the medium priced motor car field.

It is the battle of the principles of construction that went 90 miles an hour for 500 miles at Indianapolis, and 100 miles an hour for 500 miles at Chicago—against out-dated principles of motor construction.

It is the battle of the manufacturer against the middleman, the producer against the assembler, of buying or cash against buying on time, of new efficiency in methods of manufacture and administration against inexperienced methods.

It is the battle of Quality and lower profits against higher profits and lack of quality.

Into this contest the Chalmers Motor Company enters the greatest car it has ever built, the "Six-40" with valve-in-head overhead camshaft motor.

It is the lowest price at which Chalmers Quality has ever been sold—$1350 for a big 7-passenger touring car.

It is a new car at a lower price sent to battle with old cars at cut prices.

New Motor—New Car—New Price—New Service to Owners

Increased Factory Facilities—Greatly Increased Production for 1916

TWO years ago we saw three things. First was that the tendency of the public demand in both Europe and America was to a compact high speed motor that was more efficient, would get away quicker, run more smoothly, have greater flexibility, show greater economy and last longer under hard service.

Second was that a public temporarily diverted to cars that only looked well and rode nicely for a while, would swing back to demand quality manufacture and the ability to "stay put."

Third was that only those manufacturers who built their own cars in large volume and bought their own materials for spot cash at the advantage of the market could survive.

Motor Designed in Europe

So we sent our engineers to Europe to design a new motor and began to lay our plans for a greatly increased production this season.

We are now building two big new factory additions to handle the work. We added machines that cost $90,000.00 apiece to do work in our factory in order to give this remarkable quality car to you at $1350.

No one dreamed that such a car could be built for $1350. It is equal to cars that sold for $4000 three years ago. It isn't a made-over model, reduced in size, or certain things eliminated to fit the price—it is a brand new car, designed specially as a Quality car at a low price.

The Quality Car at Small Profit

We are marketing this QUALITY car on the lowest profit per car in the motor car business.

When Chalmers engineers went to Europe to study design two years ago, they found European designers at work on high speed motors of the valve-in-head type with overhead camshaft.

European makers had already tried this type out in racers. They were perfecting it for a road car.

We hoped to be the first in America to adopt this style of motor. But when the war stopped European makers, fate decreed that we should lead the world in the use of the valve-in-head overhead camshaft motor for a stock car.

We were not surprised at the showing at Indianapolis and Chicago, where this type of motor won all honors. We knew a year ago that these results would be achieved.

Speedway Racers All of This Type

We knew that to attain a speed of 90 to 100 miles an hour that the motor would have to be a valve-in-head, overhead camshaft type.

Think of it! 90 miles an hour for 500 miles at Indianapolis and the first four to finish, and eight out of the first ten, were valve-in-head motors, with overhead camshafts!

And then the Chicago races at 100 miles an hour for 500 miles—the first three and seven out of the first eleven were of this type!

Take a Ride in this Car

"Take a ride in this car," and see for yourself if you do not get in this Chalmers type of six-cylinder motor all the smoothness, all of the flexibility, all of the pick-up, and all of the "pop" that is claimed for any other motor built, no matter how many cylinders it may have.

All of our strength, all of our organization, all of our money, all of our reputation, are back of these six words: "TAKE A RIDE IN THIS CAR."

Demonstrators are now in the hands of our dealers.

Chalmers Motor Company

New Service to Owners

Buying a motor car without a definite plan of service is unwise and costly. Every Chalmers dealer gives to every buyer of a Chalmers car a definite service of all kinds. This service consists of: Spare Parts, Oil, Grease, Lubricants, and a complete list of work at any Chalmers dealer's anytime at any time.

The Chalmers Club

Every Chalmers owner is invited to join the Chalmers Club. Every member receives regularly without charge "The Chalmers Clubman," a magazine devoted to the interests of Chalmers owners. Also a membership card commending the owner to the courtesy of all Chalmers representatives everywhere.

That double word "cheap" is the cause of wasting more money than good paint costs, two or three times over.

The two words sound alike but the meanings are opposite. "Cheap" costs double. Cheap is Devoce.
